

U.S.C. § 701, et seq.—is not available where, as here, another court, such as the Court of Federal Claims (“CFC”) provides an adequate remedy for the challenged agency action at issue. (See id. at 30-34.)

By order entered October 31, 2016, the court agreed with Defendants that the court lacked subject matter jurisdiction over the State’s third cause of action because, pursuant to its jurisdiction under the Tucker Act, 28 U.S.C. §§ 1346, 1491, the CFC provides an adequate remedy for the agency action challenged in that cause of action and, therefore, Defendants had not waived sovereign immunity from suit in this court with respect to the complaint’s third cause of action. (See ECF No. 56.) The court subsequently denied the State’s motion for reconsideration of its rulings in the October 31, 2016 order. (See ECF No. 75.) Because the court was uncertain whether it should dismiss the third cause of action without prejudice to the State’s ability to prosecute it in an original action filed with the CFC or instead should transfer the cause of action to the CFC, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1631, the court directed the parties to file supplemental briefing on the issue and declined to decide Defendants’ motion to dismiss the third cause of action until the briefs had been submitted. (See ECF No. 56 at 24-31.)

The parties have since filed their supplemental briefs. (ECF Nos. 63, 64.) The parties agree that the court should dismiss the cause of action without prejudice to the State’s ability to prosecute it in an original action filed in the CFC rather than transfer it. (See ECF Nos. 63, 64.) Accordingly, for the reasons stated in the court’s October 31, 2016 order (ECF No. 56), as well as in its order denying the State’s motion for reconsideration (ECF No. 75) and in the parties’ supplemental briefs, Defendants’ motion to dismiss the complaint (ECF No. 17) is hereby GRANTED IN PART.¹ The third cause of action in the State's complaint (ECF No. 1 ¶¶ 97-112) is hereby DISMISSED without prejudice to the State's ability to prosecute it an original action filed in the Court of Federal Claims.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

United States District Court Judge

Columbia, South Carolina

¹ The court notes that Defendants' motion to dismiss is not fully disposed by this order. Defendants have moved to dismiss the first and second causes of action in the State's complaint on grounds that the court has yet to address. (See ECF No. 17.)
